Activity

The Road and Bridge Research Institute is a certification body accredited by the Polish Centre for Accreditation to certify construction products and factory production control with the Accreditation Certificate No. 052 valid up till July 26th, 2013. It confirms compliance with requirements of the standard PN-EN 45011:2000 “General requirements for bodies which conduct systems of product certification” and requirements provided by relevant clauses of the standard PN-EN ISO/IEC 17021:2007 referring to assessment, acceptance and certification of FPC (factory production control).

The Institute was accredited as a product certification body for the first time in 1998 by the Polish Centre for Testing and Certification.

The Institute became a notified European body No. 2219 by entering on Jan. 8th, 2010 into the database of the European Commission NANDO CPD. That notification concerns activities which include both certification of product conformity and certification of FPC.
